

Charles Meadows is an Assistant Professor of Communications in the School of Communication at East Carolina University. His teaching and research covers topics such as public relations, health communication, and crisis management.

Charles is available for keynote speeches on topics related to public relations, health communication, and higher education. He earned Pfeiffer University's Falcon Teaching Award in 2015 for his courses in public relations.

Charles' research has been published in both national and international academic journals, such as the International Journal of Communication, Public Relations Review, Journal of Healthcare Communications and Corporate Reputation Review.